US blockbuster film released in 1997, directed by James Cameron. The three-hour epic centred on the love affair between high-class society beauty Rose (Kate Winslet) and third-class passenger Jack (Leonardo DiCaprio), sailing to the USA on the Titanic. The film was the most expensive ever made at the time, costing over US$250 million, and it also became the biggest-grossing film of its time. It was nominated for 14 Academy Awards in 1998 and won 11, including Best Picture.

The film's title song was by Céline Dion, and the film's soundtrack was also phenomenally successful.
